Dear members,

we intend to keep alive the journal of our Society as an important stimulus to scientific production. The journal should be published in two annual issues. The idea is to publish an issue with a specific topic, and one dedicated to scientific papers submitted by the members. Therefore, remembering that scientific publications are part of our cultural background and that can help us in daily practice, I hope in your active collaboration in order to send us your scientific works and invite young colleagues to contribute. In fact we think it is very important to encourage and approach our young colleagues to the scientific works and to publications. In our mind, this magazine must also have this role, in the hope that it will make them grow by a scientific point of view and that they help us to grow the magazine.

Sincerely,

Araldo Causero
